From: EDF Health Blog [edfhealth@edf.org]
Sent: 12/11/2018 11:02:49 PM
To: Beck, Nancy [Beck.Nancy@epa.gov]
Subject: California Water Board makes misleading claim that only four water systems have lead lines

Is this email not displaying correctly? View it in your browser.

Hi, here's the latest from EDF Health:

California Water Board makes misleading claim that only four water systems have lead lines

By Tom Neltner

Tom Neltner, J.D., Chemicals Policy Director The California Water Board posted the results of its statewide inventory of lead service lines (LSLs) in community water systems (CWSs) yesterday. They also became the first in the nation to post the results in an interactive online map. We are pleased to see the state take this important step, [...]

The Trump EPA's latest TSCA gift to the chemical industry is illegal and the height of hypocrisy

By Richard Denison

Richard Denison, Ph.D., is a Lead Senior Scientist. 'Tis the season for giving, but it's not quite keeping in the spirit to have our Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) pile on giveaways to the chemical industry. The latest one I'll discuss in this post is not only in direct violation of the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA); [...]

Read More

Tweet Like

More to read:

The Trump EPA is poised to grant the chemical industry yet another of its wishes under TSCA

Lead from a new "lead-free" brass faucet? More common than you'd hope

FDA-approved PFAS: A serious breakdown in assessing food additive safety

Need more evidence of the chemical industry's bad faith on TSCA? Read this.

A call for urgent action: First-ever WHO conference on a killer that cuts short millions of lives a year